Kennebec. This top all-purpose potato is ideal for frying, baking and boiling. Thin, smooth skin and smooth white flesh make these oval potatoes an all-purpose pantry staple. Stores well.

Superior. A parent of Kennebec originally bred for chipping, Superior is a medium-early maturing variety with moderately high yields. Buff colored skin with smooth to slightly flaked white flesh. Stores well.

Dark Red Norland. Easy to grow early season variety with consistent yields of beautiful round, red tubers. Good resistance to scab.

Red Pontiac. White flesh and thin, red skins. Performs well in heavy soils. Top-notch mashing potato! Scab resistant, stores well.

Russet Burbank. Russet skin, shallow eyes, and white flesh; great taste and perfect baked, fried or boiled. Scab resistant, stores well.

Yukon Gold. Yellow-fleshed with rich flavor, thin, gold skins with shallow eyes. Produces high yields and stores well.

Adirondack Blue. Medium purple skin and flesh. High yields of large, oblong tubers with consistent, blue-violet flesh that hold their color when cooked. High in antioxidants!

French Fingerling. Pink skins with yellow, red-flecked flesh. These fingerlings are known for their gourmet flavor. Somewhat resistant to scab.

Banana Fingerling. Yellow skin and golden flesh, bananas have a smooth, waxy texture and sweet savory flavor.

Satina. With a smooth texture and a great flavor, the satiny yellow skin and yellow flesh of these oval-round tubers makes for an exceptional eating experience. An early- to mid-season German variety with high yields and resistance to scab and hollow heart. Very good storage.

German Butterball. A round to oblong tuber with lightly-netted golden and deep yellow flesh. Excellent storage. Resistant to scab and viruses.
