SWEET POTATO SLIPS Arrive as bare root pieces. They may be dry, wilted, pale or brown in color – this is normal. They may or may not have visible roots. This does not negatively impact viability or yield. Plant as soon as possible when the soil temp is at least 60° F. If not planting immediately, wrap the root end of the slips in moist paper towels, keeping the leaves and stems dry out of direct sunlight and wind. Plant 3' apart and 6' between rows.
